

END OF THE WORLD IMMINENT?!

*Anthony Carr's prediction from STARGAZER, 2012

"This current Epoch is experiencing the 4th world civilization. We have previously nearly been wiped out by fire, water and ice (the ice age). Now our corrupt world faces annihilation once again: -waves higher than mountains shall roll upon the lands as continents split asunder and sink beneath the seas! Not suddenly, not all at once, but gradually. All this takes place before the start of the 5th civilization. My fulfilled prophecy of New York City's floods and an earthquake is but a preview of coming events! Each subsequent flood will be worse than the previous one, until all of New York is eventually under water."

But fear not! Before the above events take place, there are first a couple of minor preshocks: WWII, followed by the return of God (the Star-traveller Who created us). After that, then you can start worrying about oceans and mountains changing places!

In short, nothing is going to happen on December 21 — zip, zilch, nada, zero!

(If I'm wrong — sue me! But not until December 22. However, if the Semitic races start hurling atomic bombs at each other, that doesn't count!)

Superstorm Sandy slammed into the New Jersey coastline and hurled a record-breaking four-metre surge of seawater at New York City Monday night, knocking out power to at least 3.1 million people across the country. At least 13 deaths in the U.S. were blamed on the weather.
